Dedication

We, the Class of 1950, sincerely dedicate this yearbook to our parents, who through their encouragement, guidance, and patience have made it possible for us to successfully complete our four years at Codorus Township High School.

We truthfully hope that in this way we have been able to show our deep appreciation for all the many things they did for us.

Foreword

As the old saying goes—time waits for no one. Now we find our four, short, pleasant years we spent at school have neared the end. We will soon hold only memories of the days spent at Codorus High. To cherish forever in our hearts these sacred memories, and in the hearts of our parents and readers, we publish for you, this, the 1950 annual Review Number of the Glen Echo.

ALMA MATER

Tune: "Sweet Genevieve"

From hill and dale we daily come
With merry voices blithe and gay,
We sing at home and when at school
Of things we learn to do each day;
We'll boast our school in word and deed,
Codus High has scores of friends,
For doctors, lawyers, pastors true
Have started here their famed careers.

We now can do more than of yore,
Because our standards daily rise,
We know the future has in store
Some marvel and some grand surprise.
We're glad to live in this new day,
When man and nation onward move;
The home and school, the church and state,
We know these all we may improve.

CHORUS

Codus High, Our Township High,
The days may come, the days may go;
But still to us fond memories cling
Of busy days on Glenville hill.
(To last stanza) Codorus High.

September 3, 1946, marked an important day for 64 young people. Yes, that was the day our high school careers began. It is now 1950 and we find ourselves about to graduate, and we realize that we shall spend no more carefree days at Codorus High. As we look back we recall many happy hours spent here—memories that will always linger.

As freshmen we chose brown and gold as our class colors, the yellow carnation as our class flower and Live to Learn, Learn to Live as our class motto. As juniors we changed our class flower to the talisman rose and our class colors to green and gray. Miss Freida Gaffney served as our class adviser for two years. As the beginning of our junior year we chose as our class adviser, Mr. Henry J. Miller.

Through our four years we have taken a great interest in all activities. Many of our members, both boys and girls, were on the basketball, volleyball and baseball teams. Phyllis Henry, Lucile Miller, Anna Harrell and Jean Meckley were cheerleaders for three years. Besides sports our class was active in the Science Club, Literary Society, Glee Club, Debate and dramatics.

The highlight of our junior year was our play "A Case of Springtime" by Lee Sherman and presented March 31 and April 2, 1949, in the high school auditorium. It proved to be successful through the help of Mr. Henry J. Miller.

In our senior year we again had the pleasure of presenting a play "Strictly Formal" by William Davidson. This was also a hit.

During our junior year we visited Philadelphia, and on our class trip we went to Virginia where we visited many historical spots. During our senior year we visited Harrisburg, Washington, D. C., and we went to New York City for our class trip, on the nineteenth to the twenty-second of May. In March Mr. Miller resigned as class adviser and we were obliged to carry on alone for the remaining year. Our Class Night was held on May 26. Baccalaureate May 28, and Commencement June 1.

Class Poem

DOROTHY BRENNEMAN

In the autumn days of forty-six.
When we were all quite shy.
We started our friendship together.
At good old Codorus High.

Our class colors are green and gray.
Our flower the talisman rose.
We will always endeavor to be true.
To the things that we have chosen.

Learn to live, and live to learn.
Is the motto of our class.
Which was chosen very successfully.
By every lad and lass.

Our four short years have gone by.
While each day brought something new.
To all the friends we leave behind.
The class of fifty says adieu.

Last Will and Testament of the Senior Class

By

LAVERNE GLADFELTER

DONALD BORTNER

The Senior Class of 1950 of the Codorus Township High School, county of York and state of Pennsylvania;

We, being of a well filled brain after a full four years of work, do publish this our last will and testament.

To the faculty, we will the respect of the pupils for them, and hope that the pupils will follow and use all their advice as wisely as they are able.

To the junior class, we will a fine homeroom teacher, the glory of being seniors and greater care for their fellow workers.

To the sophomores and freshmen, we hope that they will strive harder to become upper classmen and to be obedient to their superiors.

To Dennis McWilliams we will Kenneth Myers' shortstopping ability in hope that he will make some great stops.

To Norman Walker we will some of George Harbold's size.

Rosalie Krebs wills her ability to play basketball to her sister, JoAnn.

To Oscar Trivett we will Laverne Gladfelter's basketball ability, in hope that he will be a great help to the team.

Jean Meckley wills her job as captain of the cheerleaders to Naomi Ness.

To Dorothy Rudisill we will Norma Strausbaugh's talking ability in study halls, especially in room five.

Charlotte Werner wills her ability to think of a certain person and to study at the same time, to any other who may wish to do so.

We will Allan Rohrbaugh's knack of going with so many different girls to Roger Roser, on second thought he may not need it.

We will to Mary Rahn, Robert Cramer's art pen and hope that she will continue to give the Glen Echo good cuts.

To Dolores Wildasin we will Fairy Hetrick's and Edna Forbes' devotedness that they had during the last years at Codorus.

We will Anna Harrell's ability to talk in P.O.D. class to Wayne Lehr.

To James Bensel we will his brother's seat in orchestra. We hope that he will show as much interest as Howard.

To Walter Strausbaugh we will Leonard Kerr's title as "the cowboy driver of C.T.H.S."

Lavere Miller and Robert Trump will the wave in their hair to Harry Sprenkle.

We will Marguerite Warner's ability and knowledge of music to JoAnn Garver.

We will Richard Krebs' job as manager of the basketball team to Wayne Beckner, who we are sure would make a good manager.

To Billy Bare we will Marion Albright's ability to study under all circumstances.
We will Donald Bortner's A's in P.O.D. to Macletta Miller.
Janet Brown wills her red hair to Jean Braun.
We will Betty Krebs' job as editor-in-chief of the Glen Echo to Elzora Harrell.
We will Patricia Gift's and Dorothy Brenneman's ability to dance to James Coomes.
To Earl Sprenkle we will Phyllis Henry's ability to catch muskrats.
Milton Myers wills his seat in French class to whoever doesn't like French.
We will Jean Garman's love life to Margaret Lucabaugh.
Jewell Trivett and Arlene Rother will their reading ability to Delano Miller.
We will Millard Rohrbaugh's delightful chuckle to Shirley Walker.
James Bare wills his magic tricks to Richard Edsell.
MaryAnn Snyder and Lucile Miller will their brotherly love affairs to whoever is lucky enough to find them.
To Elmer Shearer we will Arlene Dusman's quietness.
Frank Clarton wills his old model A Ford to Buster Harrell.
To George Hunt we will Helen Sutherland's enjoyment for skating and hope that he will skate on his feet.
Esther Bollinger and Estella Thomas will their ambition to study to Kenneth Becker.
Marlin Folkenroth wills his laughs and good nature to William Rahn.
To Mr. Bortner we will a new set of venetian blinds for room one.
To Mr. Trout we will a quiet and ambitious health class.
To Mr. Henry Miller we will a picture window in his home.
To Mr. Charles Miller we will a paint brush that will paint a world master-piece.
To Mrs. Heindel we will an interested senior girls' physical education class.
To Mr. Wehler we will a new 1951 Ford. His "37" is still snappy.
To Miss Krumrine we will a soft toned radio. The one in room two is too loud.
We, having written this, declare it sound and firm in all parts, thereby confirming it to be our last will and testament.

Class Prophecy

BY BETTY KREBS

Now as our minds drift away from the Codorus Township High School auditorium into the future year of 1984, we arrive at that most spectacular city with all its bright shining lights, the center of show business, exciting and alluring with all its splendor of the night clubs, called "George's Haven." This city has been made famous by our classmate, George Harbold. We immediately spy the "Howard Bensel" theatre and find that James Bare is operating the camera machines. The picture that is now playing is entitled "This Is Their Life." Its fateful tale is the story of what the members of the class of 1950 are doing.

This sounds interesting, and so we purchase our tickets and enter the theatre. Now we have taken our seats and the picture is about to begin. Presenting:

"This Is Their Life" written and produced by the former Betty Krebs. I hope everyone will keep in mind that some of these pictures have been taken over a varied length of time.

Since "George's Haven" is such a romantic place we find most of the members of the class residing there. The first scene that is shown is an alluring, white, plastic cathedral. Isn't that wedding music I hear? We become bolder and peep inside the door. We find Phyllis Henry is at the organ playing and Marguerite Warner has just finished singing "Oh Promise Me". The preacher, Rev. Allan Rohrbaugh, is about to unite in marriage MaryAnn Snyder and Clyde Miller.

At night we are able to see two large buildings eighty stories high with shining lights on every floor. We wonder what can be in those buildings, and so we leave the cathedral and speed over to the first one. This happens to be a large modern hospital. After entering the hospital we meet the head doctor, Donald Bortner. We learn that Donald is the best surgeon in the hospital and he has just performed a most delicate operation. His private medical secretary is Lucile Miller, who is now taking dictation.

We find that Arlene Rother and Jewell Trivett are very busy "girls in white" on duty in the same hospital. Esther Bollinger also works here as a nurse's aid, and Estella Thomas, Marion Albright and Fairy Hetrick are laboratory technicians.

A large neon sign tells us that the other building is Marlin Folkenroth's Furniture Store. Inside we find that Frank Clarton is trying to sell furniture to a young couple. Incidentally the girl is Anna Harrell with that certain store operator. Frank is trying to sell them one of those soft and luxurious love seats which are popular now. We learn that Arlene Dusman and Edna Forbes are employed in the office as secretaries.

Across the street from the furniture store we see the Art Gallery. Here we find that Robert Cramer, the city's greatest artist, is having a display of his work.

We now leave the gallery and arrive in the residential section of the city. Large gold letters on the porch posts tell us that Mrs. Lawrence Roser, the former Patricia Gift, is residing here. As we peep around the hedge, we see several little bell bottom trousers playing in the back yard. Across the street live Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kerr. Mrs. Kerr is the former Janet Brown. What is that noise I hear coming down the street? Why it's Lavere Miller's dairy truck. Milton Myers is the milkman who wakes up the babies early in the morning by rattling the milk bottles on the porch steps.

Further down the street we notice the high school building. A bronze plaque informs us that it was built by Robert Trump.

As we enter through the door in the first classroom we find Jean Garman, an efficient teacher of mathematics. Next door we find the English teacher, Rosalie Krebs. At present Rosie is having quite a time with a "problem" student.

Now let us move down the hall to the principal's office. Large gold letters on the door identify him to be none other than Kenneth Myers. Dorothy Brenneman and Charlotte Werner are his smiling secretaries. "Cook" seems to be quite pleased with them.

We wonder who the man is who keeps the school so neat. Why here comes Richard Krebs with a scrub bucket and broom that is almost larger than he is.

In another part of the city we learn that Millard Rohrbaugh has become a lawyer and is trying hard to win all of his cases. Jean Sprenkle, the former Jean Meckley, is his attractive secretary. Doesn't her hair look beautiful? We learn that she has just left the Plizare beauty salon which is operated by Norma Strausbaugh and Helen Sutherland.

And now as the curtain is about to be drawn, under the baton of Laverne Gladfelter, his orchestra is playing, "Meet Me Tonight in Dreamland."

Class Song

Tune—The Whiffenpouf Song

We're the class of '50 here to say
Farewell Farewell
Months and days have gone and our school years end.
Farewell Farewell
Teachers and students we bid you adieu,
Thanking you now for helping us through.
Each one of us should have something in view.
As we depart.

As we leave our school let us think what it meant.
Best days gone by.
Live to Learn Learn to Live
As we journey on.
Through coming years.
We'll cherish our colors the green and the gray.
And the talisman rose with its beauty so gay.
We'll remember the days spent here.
Farewell Farewell

SCIENCE CLUB REPORT

BY ALLAN ROHRBAUGH

The following officers were elected for the year 1949-50.

President—Lucile Miller
 Vice President—Phyllis Henry
 Secretary—Betty Krebs
 Treasurer—Charlotte Werner
 Reporter-Historian—Allan Rohrbaugh
 Scout—Dwight Bortner
 Sergeant-at-Arms—Harold Warner
 Librarians—MaryAnn Snyder and Dolores Wildasin

The organizer for the year was Mr. Ralph Bortner.

There was a project which was to be done by every member of the Science Club. It was "Today In Science." This was a write up of some important event happening many years ago and it was to be written up on the day of the year which it happened.

On January 3, 1950, Bob Brown and his Science Circus were at school and gave the student body a very good program. This was sponsored by the Science Club.

The Science Club enjoyed making a tour to the P. H. Glatfelter paper mill. This, however, was educational because we learned some of the things that have to be done in order to make paper.

The Science Club was begun in 1925. This was its twenty-fifth anniversary. We think it was a very successful year.

THE LIBRARIANS

BY CHARLOTTE WERNER

This school year the library opened on September 23rd, 1949. Thirty-five people volunteered to become librarians. Three people were in the library each morning. These persons had to hand in a list of the persons' names whose books were due the following day. The reason this was done was so that these names could be put on the announcement slip and remind the person his book was due the following day. There were two librarians in the library each noon and evening. Those in the library in the evening had to fill out the overdue slips and distribute them to the rooms.

Three books were donated to the library during the year by Pauline Shaffer. These were namely: "Colonel Washington," "The Pennsylvanian," "Major Washington."

These books were written by Ervin Shaffer.

From the time the library opened on September 23rd until December 30th, the total number of books taken out was 786. In this number forty-five were books on travel, five hundred and thirty-nine of fiction, one hundred and ninety-three were biographies and nine on literature. This was a period of sixty-five days. If this were averaged there would have been approximately twelve books taken out every day.

Several good books on each of the required lists are:

Freshman—"I Never Left Home," Hope; "Little Women," Alcott; "Little Men," Alcott.

DEBATE

BY ELZORA HARRELL

This school term the annual debate was held Friday, February 10, 1950, in the high school auditorium.

The subject of the debate was stated as follows: "Resolved that the President of the United States should be elected by the direct vote of the people."

The presentation of the constructive speeches was limited to six minutes. A timekeeper stood at the end of five minutes as a warning to the speaker. When six minutes had expired both the timekeepers stood up and remained standing until the speaker finished the sentence he had begun.

The affirmative spoke first in the presentation and last in the rebuttal.

Betty Krebs served as chairman. Lucile Miller and Donald Bortner were the timekeepers.

The judges were Elwood Myers, Hanover, Pa.; the Rev. John Royer, Thomasville, Pa.; and the Rev. Daugherty, Codorus, Pa.

The judges used the following rules:

1. When rendering the decision give equal consideration to matter, form of argument and delivery.
2. At the end of the constructive speeches the judges retire to a separate room for 15 minutes in order to render a decision on the best affirmative and the best negative speaker.
3. At the conclusion of the contest the judges render their decision. Judges are not permitted to confer with anyone in rendering their decision.
4. Judges base their decision on the merits of the debate and not on the merits of the question.
5. Decision is handed in on a card.

The affirmative team was coached by Mr. George Wehler. The speakers were: Rosalie Krebs (captain), Wayne Beckner, Fairy Hetrick and Dolores Wildasin.

The negative team was coached by Mr. Ralph Bortner. The speakers were: Allan Rohrbaugh (captain), Elzora Harrell, Patricia Gift and Jewell Trivett.

"OPERETTA"

MARGUERITE WARNER

The musical talented students of C.T.H.S. presented the operetta "The Gypsy Rover" in the spring of 1949. It was directed by Miss Phyllis T. Krumrine and Mr. Raymond Coates.

Here is a synopsis of the play with the person's name who portrayed that part in parentheses.

"The Gypsy Rover" is built around Rob (Clark Walker), later known as Sir Gilbert Howe, of English nobility. Rob was stolen when an infant, by his nurse, Meg (Fairy Hetrick), who later becomes the wife of Marto, a gypsy. Rob grew to manhood amongst these gypsies believing Meg and Marto (George Lucabaugh) to be his parents.

One day, while riding with her fiance, Lord Craven (Charles Tyson), Lady Constance Martendale (Marguerite Warner) becomes lost in the woods. They wander to the gypsy camp where Constance and Rob meet and fall in love at first sight. Craven objects to Rob's attitude, but in a very short time is forced by Marto and Sinfo (Harold Warner) to tell Sir George Martendale (Allan Rohrbaugh) that Rob is a charming fellow.

Later Constance is found by her father, Sir George, and goes home with him. Rob came to the home of Constance one night and serenaded her. They planned to elope but Craven overheard their conversation and he informed Sir George; they planned to capture Rob. Their plan was successful and Rob was thrown into prison.

Two long years elapsed and Rob came into his estates, his identity having been proven by Meg. He became a successful composer, a friend of the Prince and a social lion. Constance remained true to her love for Rob and on his return to England, he woos and wins her for his wife. Also there were love affairs between Nina (Verna Miller) and Capt. Jerome (Frederick Trump), and Zara (Geneva Crist) and Sinfo.

SENIOR CHORUS HISTORY

BY MACLETTA MILLER

During this year, there have been about thirty-three members in the Senior Chorus. There were twenty-seven girls and six boys. The chorus sang and learned many new songs this year. Some of them were "The Vesper Bell," "The Kerry Dance," "The Lost Chord," and "Passing By." Although we did not have a Christmas program, the chorus had great success in the operetta, and we hope each and everyone of you enjoyed it. The chorus also had eight boys and girls from the chorus to attend the County Music Festival, which was held March 31, 1950, at York, Pennsylvania. Our chorus, during 1949-50, was under the direction of Miss Margaret Marsteller. The chorus members, with her help, have shown a fine spirit of cooperation, and as some members of our chorus leave, and new faces come, we hope to keep on doing the splendid work.

BASEBALL REPORT

By LAVERNE GLADFELTER

This season we again participated in the Southern York County Scholastic League. Our opponents were Glen Rock, New Freedom, Delta, and Lower Chanceford. The title was again won by New Freedom. We were successful in beating Delta twice and Lower Chanceford once, which put us in third place. We also played Spring Grove in two exhibition games, winning one while losing the other.

This year due to the condition of our diamond, we played our home games on the Jefferson diamond.

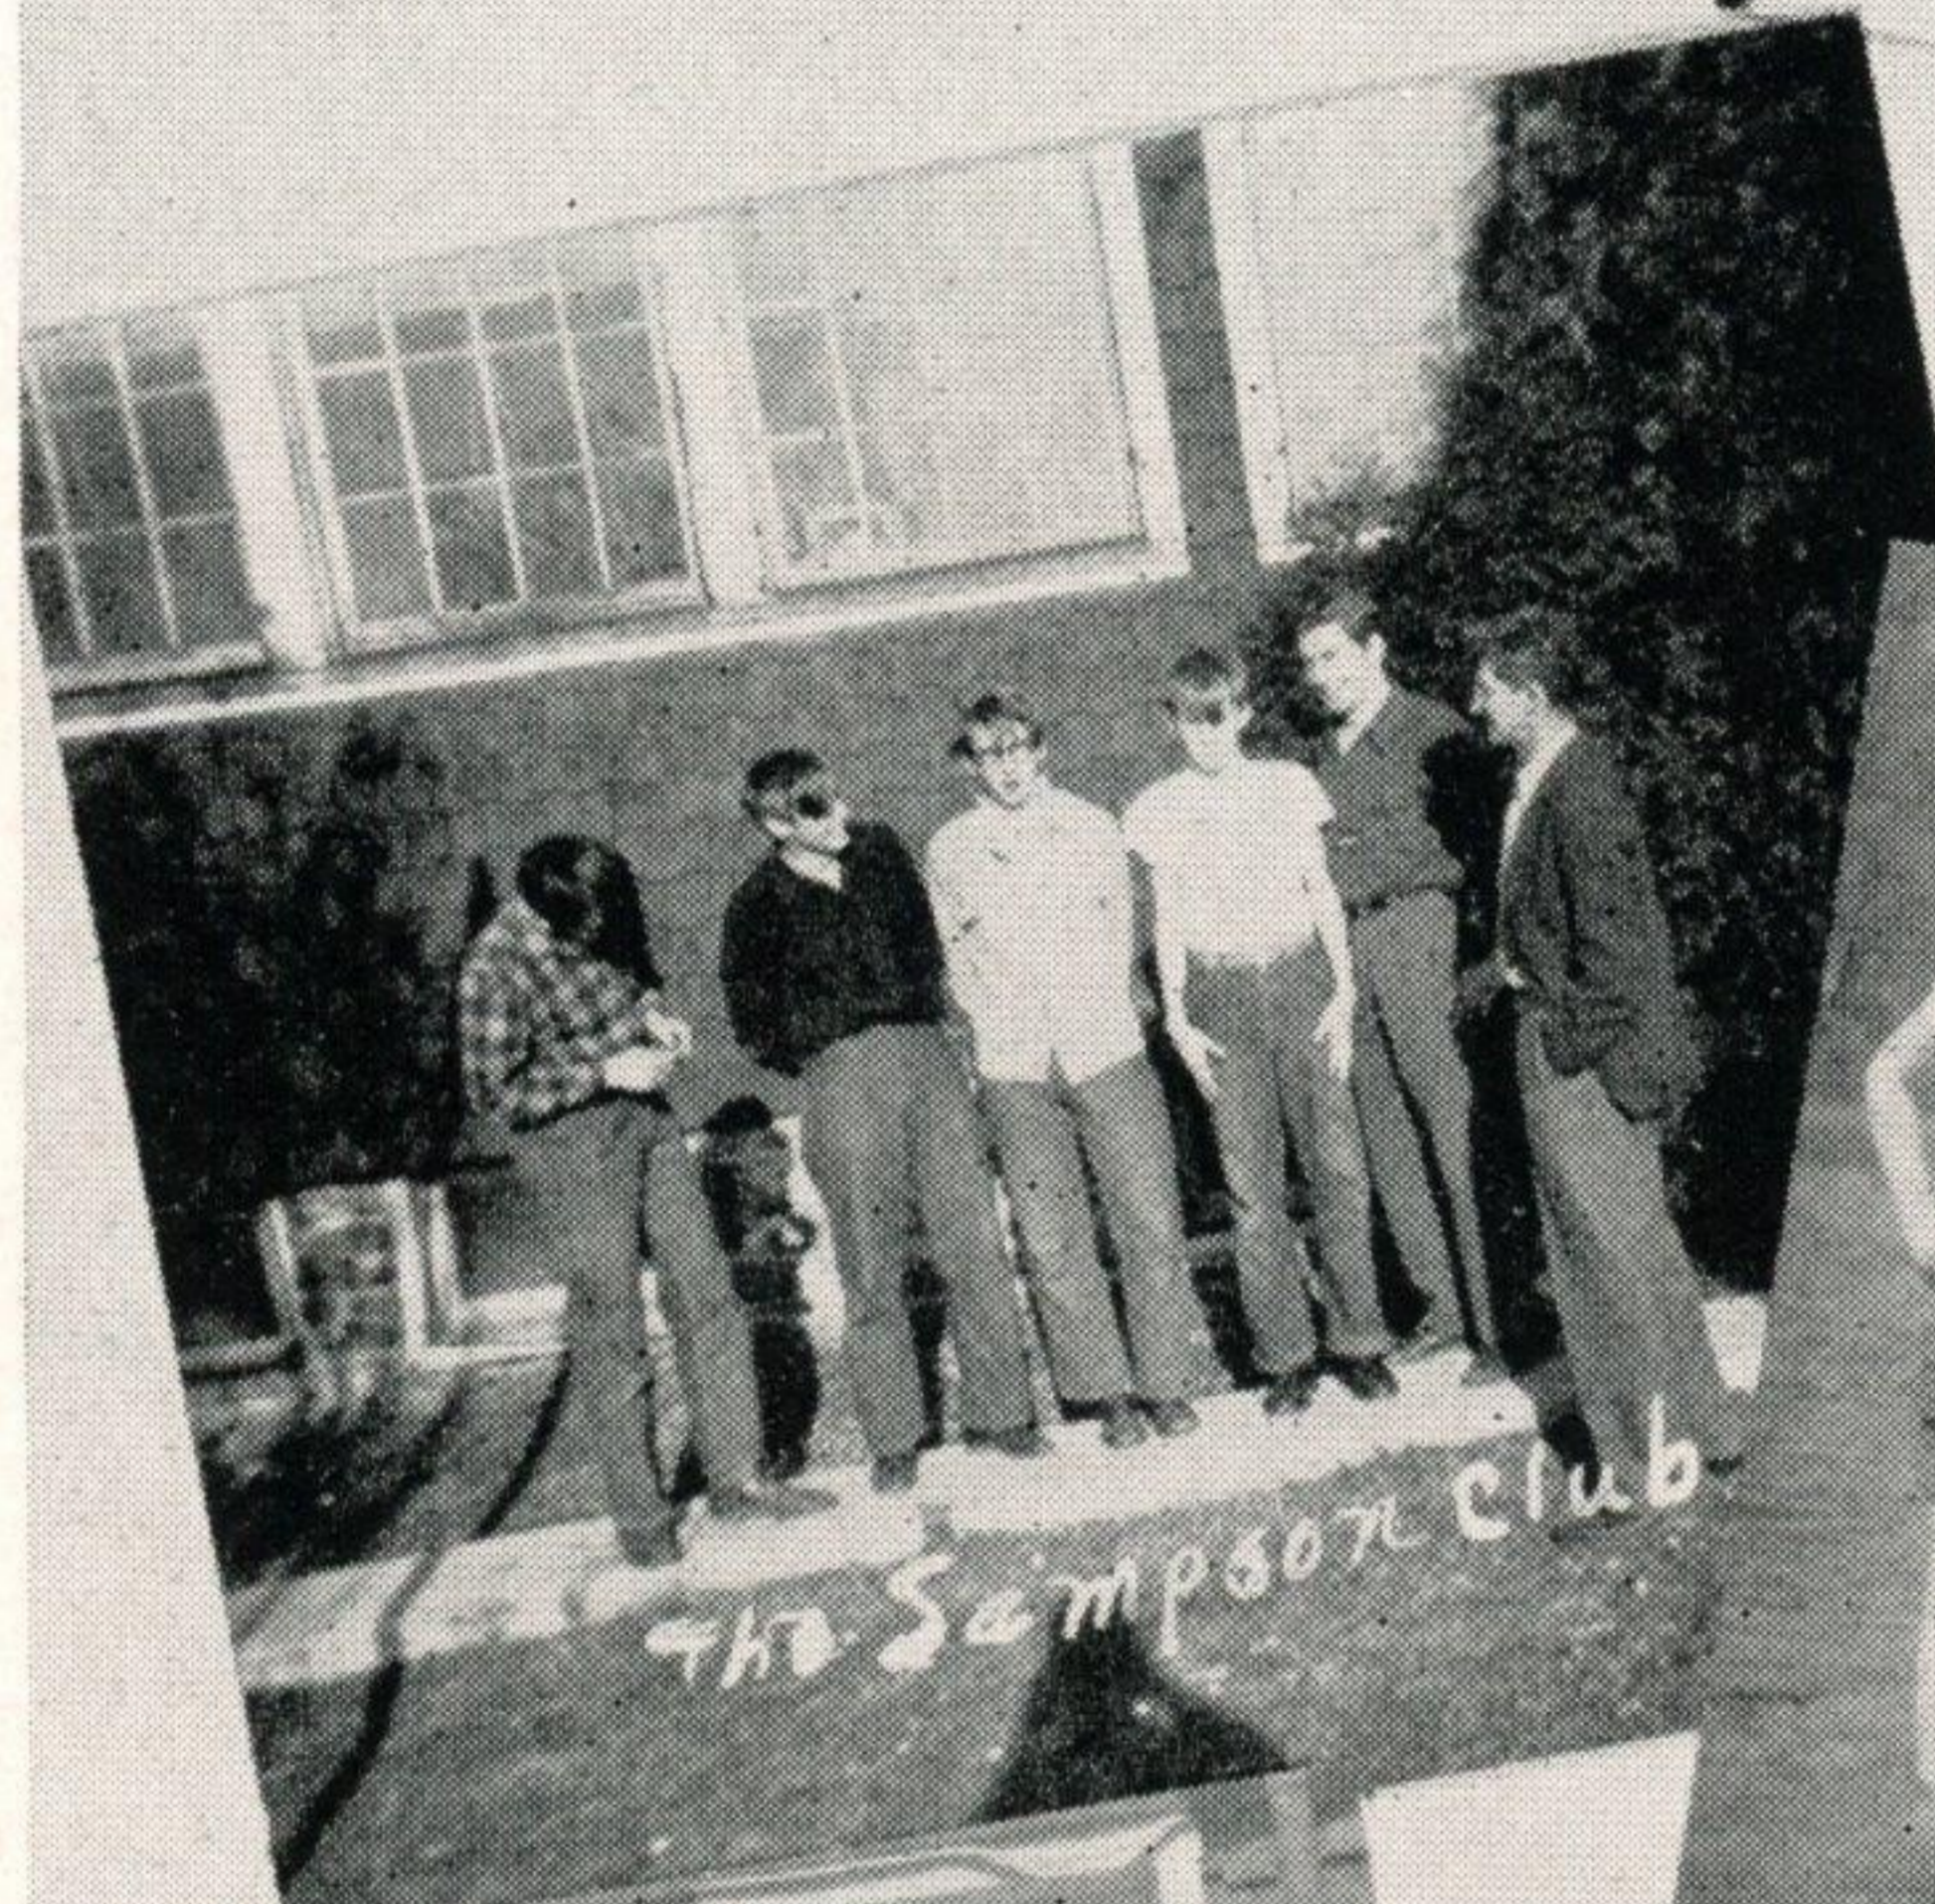

With six seniors graduating that were on the team, it will take some rebuilding. We hope that the team will do their best and win a lot of games.
